Administrative Order No. 36
Series of 2003

Subject: Guidelines in the Implementation of the After Care Service

I. Rationale:

The DSWD is mandated to provide social protection and promote the rights and welfare of the poor, vulnerable and the disadvantaged individual, family and community. Though many of its programs and services have been devolved to the local government units (LGUs), the DSWD continues to ensure the welfare and protection of individuals and families needing specialized social services. This is undertaken through its statutory services, special projects and operation of residential centers and institutions.

To date, the DSWD maintains sixty five (65) residential care facilities for children, youth, women, older persons and person with disabilities, providing 24-hour alternative care and rehabilitation services to individuals whose needs cannot be adequately met by their own families and relatives over a period of time due to situations and circumstances beyond their control.

While the needs of these groups are being attended to at the centers, the fact remains that once discharged, most of them are faced with adjustment problems to new situations in their own homes and in the community. The transition from a life within a center/institution to a family and community setting generally brings with it feelings of anxiety and apprehension over one’s capability to take on new roles. In like manner, family members as well as the community, need assistance to be able to provide and show support to the client who is back to their own family and respective community.

It is on this premise that aftercare and follow-up services are necessary to ensure smooth reintegration of the clients to their families and community.

II. Description:

Aftercare service is the provision of interventions, approaches and strategies with the end goal of ensuring effective reintegration and relapse prevention of the children, youth, women, persons with disabilities (PWDs) and older persons discharged from residential and correctional facilities. A discharge plan shall be formulated by the center and community workers as basis in the provision of appropriate services to both the client and his family/guardian. The discharge plan shall indicate interventions that shall prepare the client, family/guardian and the community for the eventual return of the client.
The services shall be provided by the city/municipal social welfare development office (CMSWDO) within a period of one year from discharge in coordination with other government and non-government organizations. A contract/agreement shall be signed by both the community social worker and the client to carry out the reintegration plan.
