I. BACKGROUND/RATIONALE

It is the policy of the State to protect children from abandonment and all forms of neglect, abuse, and exploitation. This is in adherence to the United Nations-Child Rights Convention. However, cases of violation of child's rights abound although the accurate picture of the seriousness of the situation is difficult to establish because of unreported incidents. The Department of Social Welfare and Development alone served a total of 4,873 abandoned, neglected and abused children in CY 2014 through its residential and community-based services.

Violence against children is present in almost all aspects of child’s life: in their home, in school, on the street, at work, in institutions, and in detention. This is what the World Report on Violence against Children by Paulo Sergio indicates. This means that people who are expected to promote the protection of children could be perpetrators of abuse, violence and exploitation. In a national summit held in CY 2012, inter-agency councils and committees for the protection of children acknowledged that this is a reality in the Philippines based on some studies and surveys. To cite one, the survey made by the Child Adolescent Psychiatrist in the Philippines showed that an estimated 500 to 800 child abuses cases in 2006 were committed by teachers and non-teaching staff such as janitors, bus drivers and other workers. A summit declaration was then signed by all agencies, DSWD included, to develop and adopt their respective child protection policy. Taken in this context, the Child Protection Policy (CPP) is one that articulates values and commitment to ensure the protection of children.

In carrying its mandate, the DSWD directly and indirectly works with and for children such as through its residential-based and community-based programs. This necessitates the institution of clear course of actions for its officials and personnel for them to avoid committing harm to a child. Likewise, the DSWD as the Chair of the Council for the Welfare of Children, the Juvenile Justice and Welfare Council and the Inter-Agency Council against Child Pornography should set an example to other agencies in ensuring the protection of children by issuing a Child Protection Policy.

II. Legal Bases

This child protection policy is based on international instrument and national laws primarily the following:

- The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. Articles 12 to 17 of the Convention provides for participation of children and their free expression of thoughts and feelings on all matters affecting them. Articles 19-23 and 32-40 provide for the special protection of children from abuse, exploitation and all forms of violence.
• The 1987 Philippine Constitution. Article 11, Section 13 provides that the State recognizes the vital role of youth in nation building and shall promote and protect their physical, moral, intellectual and social well-being. Article 15, Section 3 states that the Government must defend “the right of children to assistance, including proper care and nutrition and special protection from all forms of neglect, abuse, cruelty, exploitation and other conditions prejudicial to their development.”

• The Child and Youth Welfare Code (Presidential Decree 603). This Code defines the rights and responsibilities of children and the corresponding authority and obligations towards them by their parents, the community, and the government and other duty bearers.

• Republic Act 7610 or an Act Providing Stronger Deterrence and Special Protection of Children against Child Abuse, Exploitation and Discrimination. Article 1, Section 2, provides that “it shall be the policy of the State to protect and rehabilitate children gravely threatened or endangered by circumstances which affect or will affect their survival and normal development over which they have no control.”

• Republic Act 9775 or An Act Defining and Penalizing the Crime of Child Pornography, Prescribing Penalties Therefor and for Other Purposes. This Act establishes an Inter-Agency Council against Child Pornography with the Secretary of the DSWD as Chairperson. Section 2 (b) states that the State shall protect every child from all forms of exploitation and abuse including, but not limited to 1) the use of a child in pornographic materials and 2) inducement or coercion of a child to engage or be involved in pornography through whatever means

• RA 6713 An Act Establishing a Code of Conduct and Ethical Standards for Public Officials and Employees, to uphold the time-honored principle of public service being a public trust, granting incentives and rewards for exemplary service, enumerating prohibited acts and transactions and providing penalties for violations thereof and for other purposes.

III. Coverage/Scope
This Policy covers all officials and personnel of the Department of Social Welfare and Development regardless of their employment status.

IV. Definition of Terms
The following terms are defined for the purpose of this policy.

a. Child - refers to a person below eighteen (18) years of age, or one who is 18 or over but is unable to take care of or protect himself/herself from abuse, neglect, cruelty, exploitation or discrimination because of a physical or mental disability or condition.

ix) Making a child look or feel foolish in front of one’s peers or the public such as shaving hair and other analogous acts

h. Positive Discipline— is a non-violent, solution-focused, respectful and based on child development principles approach to enabling children learn or develop appropriate thinking and behavior.

i. Personnel – means the permanent, casual, contractual officials and employees of the Department including Memorandum of Agreement and contract of service workers, consultants, on-the-job trainees and others.

j. Public Officials - includes elective and appointive officials and employees, permanent or temporary, whether in the career or non-career service, including military and police personnel, whether or not they receive compensation, regardless of amount

V. Policy Statement and Commitment

Pursuant to the U.N-CRC and the State Policies to treat children with dignity and in a manner consistent with the promotion of their fundamental right to protection from all forms of neglect, cruelty and other conditions prejudicial to their development, the Department of Social Welfare and Development declares/affirms to:

1. Give paramount consideration to child’s best interest in any programs, projects and activities that directly and indirectly affect them and in all scenarios which require the special protection of children.

2. Create a safe and enabling environment for children regardless of their gender preference, religious beliefs and practices, culture, socio-economic status and physical and mental condition through the institutionalization of child participation and the use of positive and non-violent discipline in residential care facilities for children.

3. Maintain an exemplary reputation through a hiring and promotion process that favors individuals without any record of child neglect, abandonment, exploitation and violence; by not tolerating any unacceptable acts towards children by its officials and personnel committed during and beyond working hours; and by transacting business only with providers of goods and services that do not violate children’s rights.¹

4. Deliver services with utmost flexibility and high degree of consideration to children beneficiaries in order to respond to their needs promptly.

5. Ensure that children who are under the Department’s programs and services shall not be used as respondents or subjects in research activities unless their participation is the only means to study and understand a phenomenon being researched. Should a child be involved in a research or any form of data gathering, the DSWD shall see to it that utmost care is given to him/her.

¹ Providers of goods and services shall be required to fill up CP Form 3 as attachment to contract with DSWD

6. Ensure a reasonable period of deployment of staff members in disaster-stricken areas to guarantee that they do not become emotionally and physically worn out and incapable of dealing appropriately with survivors especially children.

VI. Code of Conduct to Ensure Protection of Children

The Department sets the following rules for all its officials and personnel:

1. Provide necessary assistance to children beneficiaries without requiring any favors for the official or staff member's personal gain or advantage.
2. Work with, engage, involve or utilize services only of individuals or business entities that do not have any involvement in child abuse, sexual harassment, exploitation, child pornography and violence.
3. Never be involved in a romantic relationship with a minor.
4. Take immediate action upon learning of or witnessing any unacceptable acts or behavior toward children which occurred within or outside the vicinity of DSWD offices including centers and residential care facilities.
5. Treat a child, whether a beneficiary or a child of a staff member, with respect and never allow behavior that will result in any physical, sexual, emotional or psychological harm.
6. Be considerate to children of staff members who, for various acceptable reasons, need to stay with their parents in the office for a short or limited period.
7. Do not participate in any acts involving child abuse, discrimination against children, child exploitation, violence against children, corporal punishment and any analogous or similar acts.

In addition, staff members engaged in frontline services shall observe the following decorum:

Residential Care Facilities
